Space Logix

The most dynamic and creative work space in the Triad!

Space Logix is a coworking space and business community where entrepreneurs, small businesses, freelancers, sales professionals and others can establish their office in a collaborative environment.

Coworking

Coworking represents a new, worldwide pattern for working. We are seeing a resurgence of the entrepreneurial spirit, as many people have been forced to find creative alternatives to corporate and traditional jobs of the past.

Working from one's home is more common now than ever. While some prefer the in-home office, others dislike working alone, and are not productive. Feelings of isolation, as well as frustration from distractions in the home environment, prevent adequate focus on the business.

Coworking is a community of a group of people who, although still working independently, can share ideas and interact with each other, contribute solutions to problems, celebrate successes and create a positive energy that is mutually inspirational.

If you're looking for the right location for your business, consider an alternative to the home office, or the traditional office or executive suite. Come explore Space Logix and see what a creative work environment can do for you and your business.

I think Space Logix is perfect for people who are looking to collaborate with other, like-minded creative folks. It's the right type of business for today.

Community

People like to work together. It's just human nature. Our members make up the Space Logix community. We created an environment where people can network and learn from one another. To assist and support our members, we provide a quality work space with all necessary business and technological services, so that everything needed to conduct business is right here in the community.

The atmosphere, the technology, and the way he put this together was really what impressed me from the first day I visited Space Logix. The first six clients who met me here – I closed each and every one of them. The people who are in here really have picked up the whole community atmosphere.

Event Space

Our large conference room will seat 15-30 people and can be arranged in a group meeting format, or in a classroom configuration. Equipped with a 50-inch LCD, collaboration whiteboards and video conferencing capabilities, our conference room is perfect for client or company meetings, seminars, training and special events.

Space Logix hosts several seminars and workshops throughout the year. Check our Web site often to see what we're offering. spacelogix.com

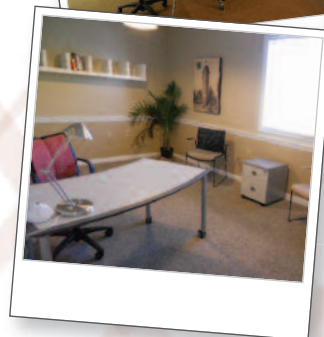

What's different about this environment is there's an ability to collaborate that goes way beyond the typical office space. There are diverse businesses in Space Logix that I might not have had the opportunity to meet. This is a great place to meet clients and have events.
